

Basic personal questions coin bluffing game

Ask your partner a personal question such as one of the questions below. Before they answer you, they will secretly flip a coin. If they get heads, they will answer your question truthfully. If they get heads, they will lie. Perhaps after asking for more details, guess if what they said was true or was false. They will then show you the coin so that you can check. Then do the same with other personal questions (changing the ending if you use the same question starter from below).
