

Talking about seasons with adverbs of frequency

Talking about seasons with adverbs of frequency guessing game

Choose one season and give hints like those below about which one you are thinking of until your partner guesses correctly. They can only guess once per hint. Discuss if the same sentences are true about your partner, then try to guess the same or a different season that they choose.

Useful language for doing the activity

No, I always/ rarely/... do that in spring/ summer/.... I'll give you another hint.
Yes, that's right. What about you? Do you...?
(Un)like you I often/ rarely/... .. in...

Talking about seasons with adverbs of frequency things in common

Try to find sentences including names of seasons and adverbs of frequency which are exactly the same for your partner in exchanges like "I always wear a hat in the summer" "Me too".

Useful language for doing the activity

Me too./ So do I./ So am I.
Really? I... do that at that time.

Change partners and do one or both of the activities above on specific months such as February.
