

There is & there are- Guess the Place

Choose one of the places in the left-hand column of the next page and give hints about things in that place until your partner guesses where you are going.

Ask about any places you don't understand, working together to talk about things in that place each time.

Choose one place. Take turns making statements about what is there until someone says something that isn't usually there or someone has no more ideas, then do the same with other places.
