

What is ... like? things in common with verbs of sensation

Ask questions like those on the next page to try to find things which are the same between you and your partner(s).

Useful phrases for commenting on similarities and differences

Me too./ Mine too./ My... .. too.

Really? I.../ Really? Mine.../ Really? My...

Share one similarity with the class that you think no other groups share.

Ask about any questions or answers which you are not sure about.

Which of these questions is "What is... like?" more similar to?

- What do you like about...?
- Can you describe...?

Change partners and do the same, but without any help.

Share one similarity with the class that you think no other groups share.

What is	your balcony	like?	It	is/ are...	...
What are	your bed/ your futon		They	has/ have...
	your bedroom			look(s)...
	your bedroom walls			smell(s)...
	your best friend		He	taste(s)...
	your bookshelves			feel(s)...
	your boots		She	sound(s)...
	your classroom			enjoy(s)...
	your dentist
	your desk
	your father
	your favourite actor
	your favourite breakfast
	your favourite building
	your favourite car
	your favourite comic (character)
	your favourite dish
	your favourite drink
	your favourite magazine
	your favourite movie
	your favourite place for a holiday your favourite sauce
	your favourite...
	your grandfather
	your grandmother
	your headaches
	your hometown
	your journey here
	your kitchen
	your last birthday presents your last pet
	your last trip
	your last vacation
	your least favourite food
	your least favourite...
	your living room
	your mother
	your neighbour
	your parents
	your pencil case
	your shampoo
	your TV
	your winter coat				